Chief, Photographic Intelligence Division

Monitoring of Project [redacted]

25X1

1. In regard to your memorandum of 25 April 1957 regarding the [redacted] proposal, as requested in paragraph 2, [redacted] Chief of the Technical Intelligence Branch of the Division, will be available to PP/AMD and TSS/APD in a technical advisory capacity on matters pertaining to the night photographic system.

2. Due to additional pressing requirements on the Photo Intelligence Division, it should be understood that projects of even higher priority than that enjoyed by [redacted] do arise and that in such instances [redacted] and his staff must temporarily redirect large amounts of their time for the benefit of other work. Since the first of the year, [redacted] have devoted about 85% of their effort to project [redacted]

3. Because of the volume of priority requirements in the Division and the limited staff available to provide technical intelligence services, it is felt necessary that the continued support by D/GP on this project remain in the category of technical advisory duties such as has been performed in the past. It is further felt that final responsibility for the negotiating and contracting for equipment rest with [redacted] of TSS/APD, or his designee, with the benefit of any advisory support this Division can give.

4. D/GP will be pleased to have [redacted] continue cooperation, to the fullest extent that is possible, with [redacted] and other members of PP/AMD in the effort to produce a night photographic system capable of yielding the highest quality photography possible.
